Park View is a bespoke project imagined, designed and constructed by Oxford Homes, Oxford’s luxury developer. It comprises a mix of just eight 1, 2 and 3 bedroom apartments arranged over four floors and with the benefit of secure off-road parking.

Once inside, the Oxford Homes difference becomes clear. Walnut front doors, sash windows, air source heat pumps to the ground floor apartments and zoned electric heating are just some of the exceptional features incorporated into these individual new homes. As standard, the kitchens are fitted with Neff appliances including a hob, oven and extractor, fridge freezer and dishwasher. All apartments have either a terrace or balcony and are accessed via a video entry system.

Suitable for both owner-occupiers or the smart investor, Park View is superbly located less than one mile west of the City Centre and even closer to the rail station. West Oxford is a development hot-spot with many exciting projects that will enhance this already sought-after location.

West Oxford

The spotlight is currently shining on West Oxford. The City Council Area Action Plan aims to create a vibrant quarter of the city centre with a mix of uses and facilities, a good network of routes and connections and a distinctive sense of place. Construction has started on the new Waitrose supermarket on the Botley road which is a short walk from Park View. Oxford rail station has extensive plans to improve its facilities and there is of course the new shopping centre on the Oxpens site with John Lewis as the key tenant.
